IELTS

TIPS FOR IELTS:

- Speaking speed
Keep an even pace when speaking and think before you speak because content is more important than speed!
- Smiling
It's normal to be nervous about exams but you have to learn to hide in front of the examiner. Smiling will make you look more at ease.
- Typing
At present, the test is mainly based on typing, so it is necessary to be familiar with using your keyboard.

OUR COURSE ABOUT IELTS

The teacher decided to help us strengthen our speaking and writing skills this semester.

Speaking: Our teacher mocks the official exam.

We talk one-on-one with him about two weeks.

Writing: The teacher will teach us to analyze the topic first and then apply the structure of the article according to the topic.

For example like how many paragraphs the article should be divided into and the content of each paragraph should write my own thoughts or state facts.
